

What can I read related to my ~Studies course area?

1

While the idea of extensive reading is to read a wide range of genre and topics that you are interested in or like, of course students in the content-focused Tokubetsu Eigo (The English) courses, in particular the ~Studies courses, would like to read books related to their own area. Here are some lists (by no means comprehensive) of books that might answer that need. Books are listed by subject area, in the following order: Asian Studies, Oceania Studies, European Studies, North American Studies, British Studies.

Note: OBW is Oxford Bookworms, and 'Who Was' and 'Terry Deary' are the names the series are called in MReader. Also, due to the ordering process, some of these books may not be in the library or LL. We apologize for this and request any students that find books not in either location inform the LL staff.
